

University of Silesia in Katowice

Title of the course: integrative phenomenology

Type of the course: open lecture and seminar for PhD students

Author of the course / lecturer:

Vilma ZYDZIUNAITE,

PhD (social sciences, education), PhD (health sciences, nursing), Professor,
Educational Research Institute, Vytautas Magnus University, Kaunas, Lithuania

Purpose of the course: introduce the methodology of integrative phenomenology focusing on specific parameters and the course of the research process.

Content

- Phenomenology as a research methodology: philosophical essence and empirical practicality
- Versions of phenomenological methodology: what, why, when, how?
- Integrative phenomenology: concept, complexity and empirical implementation.
- How to prepare the integrative phenomenology-based manuscript?